Cohen's Lottery &amp; Exchange Office.

HOC SIGNO FORTUNA.

BALTIMORE, THURSDAY, February 27, 1823.

Great Capitals still undrawn.

The situation of the STATE LOTTERY at this time, is extremely interesting. Only two drawings remain to complete it, and there are NOW FLOATING, 2 capitals of 10,000 dollars each—1 of 5,000 dollars, besides 7 of 1,000 dollars, &c. In addition to these, the Capital Prize of TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS is yet undrawn—it will be deposited in the wheel, after the next drawing, agreeably to the scheme. When it is considered how soon this lottery will be closed, and the great inducements it holds forth to adventurers, we are not surprised at the demand for tickets during the last few weeks, which has reduced the number on hand to a very small quantity, and has greatly enhanced their value.

TICKETS WILL THEREFORE RISE on Tuesday next, to FOURTEEN Dollars; and if the 10,000 dollar prizes should remain in the wheel after next Wednesday's drawing is over, the price will then be immediately advanced to FIFTEEN Dollars.

To secure chances, speedy applications should be made, either in person or by letters, post paid, addressed to J. I. COHEN, Jr.—Baltimore.

The drawing of yesterday.

On the opposite page will be found our official list of yesterday's drawing of the STATE LOTTERY. It will be noticed that the floating prize of 3000 dollars came out to No 12205. This ticket was purchased amongst the first which were sold, and is owned by a gentleman in that part of this city, called Old Town; his name we will give as soon as authorized; in the mean time we have permission to announce the names of the owners of the quarters of the FIVE THOUSAND Dollar prize which came out at the previous drawing. One of them is Mr. William Tucker, cordwainer of Bond-street—the other is Mrs. Williams of Fell's Point, whose husband, now on a voyage to South America, purchased for her four quarter tickets previous to his sailing.

The drawing will be continued on WEDNESDAY NEXT, when we anticipate a splendid distribution of Prizes.

LOTTERY COMMISSIONERS.—James L. Hawkins, Nathaniel F. Williams, and James B. Ringgold, Esquires, have been again unanimously re-appointed Commissioners of Lotteries, by the Executive of the State of Maryland.

The Register was not published last week, there having been no drawing since the 13th inst.

The legislature of Maryland adjourned on Monday night last, after having enacted during the session, upwards of two hundred laws.

The editor of the New-York Statesman, has lately been on a visit at Washington, and in a series of letters, published in the Statesman, pays the following complimentary notice to the CITY OF BALTIMORE.

"Tuesday morning I devoted to the purpose of paying my respects to my editorial brethren at Baltimore, by whom I was received with that politeness and hospitality, which are characteristic of the city. One of them was so good as to conduct me through some of the principal streets in the city, although in the midst of a violent snow storm. We climbed together to the very summit of the MONUMENT, now erecting to the memory of Washington. It stands on the highest ground in the city, and is itself 160 feet above the surface, making the whole height above the level of the Patapsco, several hundred feet. The outside is of white marble, and shows to great advantage. Within is a cylinder of brick, four or five feet in diameter, around which the stair way winds to the top. It is almost a sabbath day's journey up this dark and narrow passage, and as every step is similar, it soon becomes tiresome. Mr. ——— remarked, that the ascent reminded him of the treadmill. A boy with a lanthorn accompanied us as a guide.

On the summit of this monument is to be a statue of Washington, eighteen or twenty feet high. It has not yet been determined of what description this statue shall be, whether equestrian or not, nor whether it shall be made of bronze or marble. It is to be executed by Cappelano, the celebrated Italian artist who is now in this country. The whole monument will be completed as soon as the fund, created by a series of lotteries, will permit.

In a clear day this monument may be seen at a great distance from the city, and will add much to its beauty, as well as furnish a lasting memorial of the gratitude of its citizens to the FATHER OF HIS COUNTRY. It will also serve as an excellent observatory. The whole of the city, with the land and water in the vicinity, may be traced with the eye as distinctly as the delineations of a map. The sky was so thick with snow on Tuesday afternoon, that our view was very limited, extending only over a part of the city.

Baltimore is one of the finest built places I have ever seen. The ground is so uneven as to give a variety to the view. Many of the streets are spacious, and the houses remarkably neat and handsome. As the city is new, you see none of those ancient and shattered rookeries, which injure the appearance of some of the handsomest parts of New-York. The citizens appear to have made the money expended in building, show to the best advantage, by uniting taste and neatness, without an attempt at display.

There is one advantage possessed by Baltimore, which is peculiar, and cannot be imitated in other places. In different parts of the city are three copious springs of pure water, affording sufficient quantities to supply the whole town. I visited the principal spring, which is in the heart of the city, and drank of the water. The works about it are convenient, and the grounds adorned with trees, so as to form a delightful promenade in summer.

The Exchange is a beautiful and commodious building, every way adapted, so far as I could discover, to the purposes for which it was intended. The rooms are large, and furnished with books, maps, charts, newspapers, and all the appurtenances, which can afford accommodation to merchants and strangers."

New-York is about to erect an Exchange on a large scale. The editor of the Advocate recommends the committee entrusted with the selection of the site, plan, &c. to visit Baltimore and obtain the plan of our Exchange, which, he says, is amply commodious, and built on the very best model. "I can conceive nothing, (adds he,) which would be more accommodating for New-York. It is more commodious than the Exchange of London or Bordeaux."

Looking-glass Curtain.—The Managers of the New-York Theatre, announced for exhibition on Wednesday evening last, a looking-glass curtain, equal in size to the drop-curtain. For extent of machinery, cost in the production, and brilliant magnificence of effect, it is asserted that this splendid spectacle is unequalled by any other in any Theatre. It reflects, in one lucid sea of glass, the entire audience, and every object in front of the stage. The elegance and richness of its frame work, renders this superb ornament complete.

Literary Intelligence and Despatch.—"The Loves of the Angels," a new poem, by Moore, comprising from one hundred and fifty to two hundred pages, was received at New-York on Sunday last, by the James Cropper, from Liverpool, forwarded to Philadelphia by mail on Monday, reprinted on Tuesday, and put up neatly in boards, sent back to that city on Wednesday, and advertised on Thursday morning by the booksellers."

Pevevil of the Peake, by the author of the Waverly Novels, which is expected soon to appear, commences with the latter period of the Protectorate, and is continued through the restoration, and a great part of Charles II. reign. It also contains a character of Oliver Cromwell.

A new work by the author of the Spy, called "The Pilot—a tale of the Sea" will be published in March or April next, at New-York.

Seventy-Six, a new American novel, was published in Baltimore, last week—it is written by the author of "Logan."

John Wilson, better known as "Walking Wilson," commenced trading to New-Orleans in the spring of 1800; completed his forty-eighth voyage during the last summer, averaging nearly two and a half trips per season; and during that period has travelled by land and water one hundred and twenty-eight thousand miles in the prosecution of that trade, which will appear from the following exhibit:

48 trips to New-Orleans, 1600 miles	- - - - -	76,800
Walked 20 trips through the wilderness returning, 800 each	- - - - -	16,000
12 do. on horseback, do.	- - - - -	9,600
16 do. in steam boats, 1600 do.	- - - - -	25,000

127,400

Wilson has more than once beaten the United States' mail, whilst walking—man never could keep side and side with him—has never been overtaken by man on foot or horseback—is about forty years of age—possesses a constitution apparently unimpaired—has amassed a portion of "earthly goods," and is now in the "full tide of successful experiment," making his forty-ninth trip. Wilson is a native of Mason county, Kentucky.—Maysville Eagle.

YORK BANK.—By the report of the York Bank, made to the Legislature of Pennsylvania, dated the 4th of November last, it appears that at that time, there were $99,966 91 in silver and gold in the vaults—and that the notes in circulation were $91,650; having 1316 Dollars MORE SPECIE IN THEIR VAULTS THAN NOTES IN CIRCULATION. The capital of the York Bank is 192,940 dollars, upon which the dividends have been 3½ per cent, every six months.

The New Canal Commissioners have reported in favour of constructing a bason at the termination of the Canal at Albany, which will cost about one hundred thousand dollars. It is to be so constructed as to enable transshipments to be made between canal and river craft, without the cost and delay of cartage and storage.

From the citizens of the United States in general, the managers claim assistance in forwarding their object; for, although local pride in the present instance may be confined to Marylanders, yet NATIONAL PRIDE is common to all—and if America, now so happy, and so flourishing, should, in the course of years, become what Rome now is, our column will live to tell we had a Washington as that of Rome now does to perpetuate the memory of Trajan.
